PROFILE

As a physics student in the University of Ioannina, Greece, I have gained invaluable insight that varies from fundamental theoretical knowledge to useful practical skills. Such skills involve analyzing and solving complex lab experiments, communicating properly with my colleagues and when necessary putting all the effort to complete an important task. I strongly believe that every aspect of physics must be explored with passion and innovation in order to answer the difficult questions that arise and fully understand the beauty of the Universe.

ORGANISATIONS

TEDx Mavili Square: Panacea, Team Registration 2019
Ioannina, Greece
TEDx Mavili Square was a public event composed of scientific speeches of many subjects such as Psychology, Journalism, etc. Being a part of the team and specifically in charge of welcoming new people to the event helped me enhance my social skills and drastically developed the way I view voluntary work.
